This firm is in mourning. I am in mourning. The Deshka River airboat fatality reported in the Anchorage newspaper this morning was to the husband of one of this firm's beloved staff. She works just eight feet from my office door. We share cabin stories regularly. My son has been to their cabin several times. I was intending to go this summer. This is a relatively small, close-knit group. Obviously, we will be shorthanded this week. Just as obviously, the impact goes way beyond that. Our minds will not be on our work or due dates this week. We are trying to put as little pressure on staff as possible. Therefore, I ask that you all nonoppose an extension until next Tuesday for North Star's reply due tomorrow as to the motion against Nugget which North Star joined and reply due this Thursday as to North Star's motion for summary judgment on its agency claim. Both replies are to oppositions you filed, Tom. Nonopposing this request will not delay anything. These are only replies. The matters to which they relate will still be fully briefed and ripe next week, way before the status conference set by the Court for the 16th. Please let me know your position today, as I have to file the motion tomorrow, preferably in the morning. Thanks. - Mike
